

Brief Resumé Alvin Curran

Since 1965 I have had an active self-made career as a composer/performer in the American experimental music tradition. This was not easy. It began with a fortuitous bang when I co-founded the group Musica Elettronica Viva with Frederic Rzewski and Richard Teitelbaum in Rome, in 1966. The MEV experience (over 200 concerts and commercial recordings) was my main focus between 1966 and 1971 and continues to this day (APOGEE and MEV40 CDs, concert tours). In the early '70s I began creating a poetic series of solo-performance works for synthesizer, voice, taped environmental sounds and found objects (Songs and Views From the Magnetic Garden, Canti Illuminati...) which were performed all over Europe and the U.S. and consolidated my commitment to a life in music, which has included thousands of live performances and a discography of more than 30 solo and 60 collaborative recordings

In seeking out new musical spaces in the late 1970s I began to develop a series of concert events to be given on lakes and rivers, in parks and quarries (Riti Marittimi, Tufo Muto...), which have evolved into large scale musical choreographic works such as Beams for 30 or more mobile acoustic instruments (2005-), Oh Brass On The Grass Alas for 300 amateur brass-band musicians (Donaueschingen 2006), and Maritime Rites Tate, featuring the London Symphony Orchestra brass ensemble (2007). In the '80s I extended this concept to include whole countries (musical geographies) by creating simultaneous radio concerts with live musicians in multiple countries (1985: A Piece For Peace, Crystal Psalms). These directions were further distilled through the use of digital samplers, midi-grand pianos, and computers into solo performance pieces – Electric Rags, Endangered Species, Transdadexpress, Shofar – an appropriate synthesis among the concert hall, acoustic instruments, keyboards, and the sounds of the whole world – and into radio works such as Erat Verbum, Un Altro Ferragosto, I Dreamt John Cage Yodeling at the Zurich Hauptbahnhof, On the Roads, Living Room Music, and the Maritime Rites series (NPR, 1984) using the sounds of the entire Eastern seaboard. I also created a series of striking sound installations in collaboration with visual artists (Magic Carpet, Floor Plan...) which pointed the way to solo installation works such as The Twentieth Century, Toto Donaueschingen, Everybody Dreams Their Own Music, Gardening With John, Shin Far Shofar, and Torzam.

Throughout these electric years Elliott Carter's lessons – along with Cage's, Feldman's, and Scelsi's – continued to exert their influence; I have steadfastly remained a composer of essential "notes on paper," notably For Cornelius, Hope Street Tunnel Blues, and the Inner Cities cycle for piano; the trios Schtyx and May I Now; the string quartet VSTO; the saxophone quartet Electric Rags II; the percussion quartet Theme Park; Rose Of Beans for ensemble; Malapromptus for cello and piano; Viola Voilà featuring 10 violas; the chamber violin concerto Pittura Fresca; In Hora Mortis for chamber orchestra; Music Is Not Music and others for chorus SATB; Brute Beat Brut Bruit for flutes, clarinets, piano, violin, cello, percussion, and rapper; Circus Maximus for 17 musicians, electronics, and a video by Theo Eshetu; Symphony 1.1; and The Book of Beginnings for orchestra, youth orchestra, two self-playing pianos, and app.

Recent highlights: On Hearing The Brooklyn Bridge Sing In Yiddish, an installation/performance for two diskklaviers and light tubing (2010-2015); Circus Maximus (Integra, 2011); Toss And Find (Trisha Brown Dance Company, 2011); Maritime Rites in New York for brass bands in rowboats (2012), and in Hobart, Tempe, Palermo, Zurich, Bonn; conduction of the IATO Orchestra (2012-); Symphony 1.1 (Bologna, 2012); the Shofar Rags CD (2013); Beams Reykjavik (2015); The Book Of Beginnings (Donauesschingen 2015); publication of the alvin curran fakebook, an illustrated compendium of notated works, fragments, instruction pieces, and writings (2015); Musique Sans Frontières (Glasgow 2016).

Some performers of my work: Abel-Steinberg-Winant Trio, Alter Ego, Arditti Quartet, Ars Ludi, Ars Nova, Bang on a Can Allstars, BBC Scottish Symphony Orchestra, Bruce Brubaker, EAR Unit, Eve Egoyan, Ensemble Modern, Fred Frith, Group 180, Grup Instrumental de València, Frankie Hi NRG, Huddersfield Choral Society, IATO Orchestra, Iceland Symphony Orchestra, Joan Jeanrenaud, Kronos Quartet, Joan La Barbara, MAE Ensemble, Yvar Mikhashoff, Maria Monti, Ursula Oppens, Paul Drescher Ensemble, Relâche Ensemble, Rova Sax Quartet, Frederic Rzewski, St. Paul Chamber Orchestra, San Francisco Chamber Players, Gabriella Smart, Soldier Quartet, Kathy Supove, SWR Symphony Orchestra, Aki Takahashi, Daan Vandewalle, the West Point Band, William Winant. I have had fruitful collaborations with artists including Vita Accardi, Umberto Bignardi, Trisha Brown, Paolo Buggiani, Rudy Burckhardt, Jacob Burckhardt, Yoshiko Chuma, Clark Coolidge, Willem de Ridder, Theo Eshetu, Pietro Fortuna, Achim Freyer, Wanda Golonka, Melissa Gould, Pierre-Alain Hubert, Margy Jenkins, Joan Jonas, Kristin Jones, Nancy Karp, Paul Klerr, Lucia Latour, The Living Theatre, Roberto Masotti, Annabella Miscuglio, Memè Perlini, Alfredo Pirri, Edith Schloss, Ira Schneider, Ulli Sigg, Claudia Von Alemann, June Watanabe.

During the 1970s I taught at Rome's National Academy of Theater Arts, and in 1991-2006 I was the Milhaud Professor of Composition at Mills College. I now teach privately in Rome and during invited residencies at institutions such as Oberlin College and the Mainz Hochschule für Musik. I have published widely on music, my own music, and other artists, including at the New York Times website. A bilingual book about my work, Alvin Curran: Live In Roma, was edited by Daniela Tortora (Milan, 2010).

Selected prizes and awards: Beams Prize, BMI award (1963), National Endowment for the Arts (1977, 1983), NPR Satellite Distribution Project Award (1983-4), DAAD (1963-4, 1986-7), Ars Acoustica International Prize (Westdeutscher Rundfunk, 1989), Prix Italia (1988), Premio Novecento (Pisa 1993), Leonardo Award for Excellence (1995), Hass Family Award (San Francisco 1997), Fromm Foundation (Harvard, 1998), Meet the Composer (assisting concerts over the years), Guggenheim Foundation (2004), Ars Electronica (2004), Phonurgia Nova (2005), Experimental Music Studio Freiburg (residencies 2006, 2007), featured at the Hague Royal Conservatory of Music (2007) and the Groningen Americans Festival (2008), Johannes Gutenberg-Universität Gutenberg Fellowship (Mainz 2011), New Music USA Artists Council 2011-, Civitella Ranieri Fellowship juror (2011), interviewed by the Yale Oral History American Music project as a "Major Figure in American Music," Harvard's Elson Lectureship (2012).

Alvin Curran
Via Giovanni Pascoli 1, 00184 Rome, Italy
Tel/fax: +3906 4880389
alvincurran1@gmail.com
www.alvincurran.com